V. Strategic Direction Subcommittees Goals & Objectives Update

Communication/Community Education – Mary summarized the action items in the March 5th meeting notes as follows:

- * build a point of contact directory, for committee use only, to be used for a FAQ's sheet with building use procedures, social media handles, peachjar.com/flyer distribution, athletics/ticket sales, etc.

- * survey Town & Gown Committee to determine what each representative does with information gained at monthly meetings

- * each organization should add the Town & Gown Committee page link to their website

- * identify appropriate opportunities for committee participation

- * flyers shared at Town & Gown Committee meetings should be posted on website

- * tag events as appropriate - "if you see it, share it!"

Economic Development/Student Retention – Steve Lynch advised the subcommittee engaged 25-30 Hampton University students for their feedback with the following results:

- * most students are from larger metropolitan areas and consider Hampton a small city

- * City of Hampton is not as effective at communicating as previously assumed

- * students only communicate via electronic methods

- * they don't feel welcome at community businesses; they've experienced "micro-aggression"

- * most students do their shopping online due to lack of desirable businesses in Hampton or on the Peninsula

- * the arts community is not as prolific as they are accustomed to; Hampton is not as "lively" as they would like; they would like more vitality in the area

*they would like to see as much “future” as they do “history”, they aren’t able to appreciate what they don’t know about the area

*students would like to be embraced by and involved in the community

*they are required to do internships as part of their collegiate programs and would like more readily available information about internships available

Steve advised the following two initiatives arose from the information garnered:

1) Compile a directory of Hampton businesses that offer internships prior to the 2020 school year, to be made available at freshman orientation

2) Improve communications with students; suggestions made by committee members include initiating intern fairs on campus, communicating intern opportunities via faculty institutes, participate in fall and spring job fairs on campus; Darren offered to cater a Hampton 101 session to freshmen students; Steve Bond recommended students attend Diversity College sessions for credit; Kellie suggested student discounts for various events
